10th Sunday in Ordinary Time

5 June 2016

Lk 7:11-17

Luke uses spare prose to tell the story of the woman in today's gospel. He has no need to explain how much this person's life has been devastated – how much her world has fallen apart. Not only has she just lost her son, but in the world of 1st century Palestine, losing both son and husband condemns her to a life of destitution, helplessness and vulnerability. Without a man, she will become outcast in her society.

Then two things happened that we often think apply to ourselves.

The first is Jesus saw her. In amongst all that was going on and the “considerable number of the townspeople”, Jesus notices her. It is very easy to think that we are unnoticed, and insignificant in the grand scheme of things.

Secondly, Jesus' heart goes out to her – he felt sorry for her. We may often feel that God is distant from us, that God may care for others, but not us.

No. Whether you know it or not, God sees you, and he cares for you.

Know that when your world crashes around you, God's heart goes out to you. And your world will crash – it is the inevitable frailty of life. But our God is in the midst of that. The one who carried the cross knows what it is like to have everything stripped from them.

This not only gives us the courage to walk in our own struggles, but to be God's mercy to others. My prayer is that God gives me, and each of us as his people, the ability to really see others, to notice when life is falling apart. Then, to be a good companion who can walk alongside others and support them. Let us be God's mercy to others.

Paul Asnicar, Parishioner.

Mercy Door

Pope Francis opening the Mercy Door at the Vatican.

Our Lady of Mt Carmel has joined with The Vatican and Churches across the world in having a “Mercy Door” at the entrance to their church this year,
the Jubilee Year of Mercy.

Have you taken the opportunity yet to enter or exit through our Mercy Door ?
(the far right door as you enter the church)

After you step into the Mercy foyer, there is our ‘Mercy Tree’ and along the brick wall are messages and images of Christ’s Mercy.

I am encouraging everyone to be open to the richness of graces at our Mercy
entrance and to pause for a moment
and to reflect on our merciful God.

We want to see our parish Mercy
entrance flourishing with your prayers, thoughts, intentions (thanking God for his mercy, or asking God for his mercy in some situation in your life). Maybe you have an image of mercy in action.

Please hand your contributions to one of the Priests, or into the office, or drop it into our mailbox on Norfolk Street.

You can put your name to it, or keep it anonymous.

As parishioners this is your door and we eagerly await your contributions.

Fr Paul

'God Willing' - #1 smash hit comedy at the 2015 Italian Film Festival

The Italian film "God Willing" is currently screening at Brisbane's Palace Barracks, Palace Centro (Valley) and Graceville Regal Twin Cinemas.

After several decades of caricatured portrayals of Clergy in films, this reversal might prove a tonic for the spirits. This is a very refreshing and engaging film and well worth seeing.
