Second Sunday of Lent—21st February 2016 Reflection

We live in a world that largely promotes hard data and evidence as being prerequisite to understanding, belief and action. This foundation for decision-making and direction can push aside faith, hope and love as essential elements. These intangibles do not present the quantifiable substance to influence decision-making. Without them, however, we can tend towards a life which imitates the pursuit and demonstration of possessions rather than reflection and imitation of actions; Jesus' actions. If we strip away the 'things' of life, what is it we see that we truly need to live? Faith, hope, love, acceptance, forgiveness and mercy within and across community. This would be a spiritual awakening.

Like Jesus did with Peter, John and James, we need to rise above our physical world to gain perspective and really see. We too might then see a glimpse of glory. We might allow ourselves to be enthralled, captivated, hopeful. Ideally we would not then shrink and hide from this as did the three. What is to be gained? Lent is the perfect time for this reflection. We might stop and consider our endeavours and lived purpose. We might allow ourselves clarity in our assessment of our impact on our world; our relationships, our work, our seemingly incidental interactions with others and on the environment. We may honestly repent and redirect, even if in doing so pain is, necessarily, involved. All life includes pain and pain can invite learning, clarification and growth. We can learn a lot about ourselves when we are confronted with and tackle painful situations and circumstances. We can also exercise healthy and necessary humility. We might authentically see our need for God. Rather than give up faith and hope, take up our challenges. Sometimes God is working with, for and through us in mysterious ways. Our plan may not reach fruition but is it our plan which needs fulfilment, or God's? In God's plan we are an integral, precious member of a community, with obligations and responsibilities to live optimally for the good of all. In this year of Mercy especially, we might confront the bewildering, overwhelming or frightening and be lead to be the bigger person, sustained by the Holy Spirit. We might fight against fear, judgement and condemnation and, instead, seek to understand and embrace all with love. The love, courage and fortitude thus lived will lead us to Easter and its gift of everlasting life and entry to the heavenly community. This Lent may we actively pursue right judgement.

LENTEN PRAYER

Prayer: Let us be renewed in God's mercy,

Let us be loved by Jesus,

Let us enable the power of His love to transform our lives;

And let us become agents of this mercy, channels through which God waters the earth, protects all creation, and makes justice and peace flourish. (Pope Francis: Urbi et Orbi)

Lenten Theme: Pope Francis in this Year of Mercy has called for us to be 'missionaries of mercy'; to be people who know and live forgiveness, faith and love. Lent is the time when, through prayer and penance, we renew our commitment to follow Jesus. We believe in this time we have been given the Spirit to help and guide us in our choices; this Lent we will reflect and pray as a community for a greater depth and insight through the Spirit's gifts of Wisdom, Understanding, Right Judgement, Courage, Knowledge, Reverence and Wonder and Awe in God's Presence.

Lenten Image: We will continue the image of the Door of Mercy begun in Advent. Also, beginning with the gift of Wisdom on Ash Wednesday and following on the successive Sundays of Lent - we will reflect on one of the gifts of the Holy Spirit.

We remember those in God's care...
